

Seawater carries bacteria that can enter the body through an open wound.

The local microscopic crime syndicate is extremely proactive.