

Increased blood pressure from weightlifting forces plasma and ink out of the skin.
The art has decided to become an independent entity.